To whom it may concern:

It is with great pleasure that I have this opportunity to recommend Lee Bracegirdle to you. He is the consummate musician: an extraordinary french hornist, a remarkable composer, and an exceptional conductor. I have known Lee for close to twenty-five years, since our days at the Juillard School, and he has always been a wonderful friend and colleague. I can give you my strongest recommendation for Lee's talents, as well as his character.

If you need further assistance, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely yours,
